

Annex D. Additional question implemented in New Zealand Survey

Government institutions act according to the best interest of society

Note: Figure presents the responses to the question "Do you agree with the following statement? Government institutions act according to the best interest of society." The "likely" proportion is the aggregation of responses from 6-10 on the scale. "NZL mean" presents the weighted average across all respondents in New Zealand. Top 25% and bottom 25% refers to the income distribution based on household's total gross annual income of 2021, before tax and deductions, but including benefits/allowances. High education is defined as the ISCED 2011 education levels 5-8, i.e. university-level degrees such as Bachelors, Masters or PhD, and low education refers to less than a completed upper secondary degree. * means that differences in proportions are statistically significant at the 90% significance level;  means that differences are statistically significant at the 95% level;  means that differences are statistically significant at the 99% level. Reference group in light blue.

Source: OECD Trust Survey (<http://oe.cd/trust>)

StatLink  <https://stat.link/3iylom>

From:
Drivers of Trust in Public Institutions in New Zealand

Access the complete publication at:

<https://doi.org/10.1787/948accf8-en>

Please cite this chapter as:

OECD (2023), "Additional question implemented in New Zealand Survey", in Drivers of Trust in Public Institutions in New Zealand, OECD Publishing, Paris.

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1787/02e2b30e-en>

This work is published under the responsibility of the Secretary-General of the OECD. The opinions expressed and arguments employed herein do not necessarily reflect the official views of OECD member countries.

This document, as well as any data and map included herein, are without prejudice to the status of or sovereignty over any territory, to the delimitation of international frontiers and boundaries and to the name of any territory, city or area. Extracts from publications may be subject to additional disclaimers, which are set out in the complete version of the publication, available at the link provided.

The use of this work, whether digital or print, is governed by the Terms and Conditions to be found at <http://www.oecd.org/termsandconditions>.