Basic aspects of the Creditor Reporting System

The Creditor Reporting System (CRS) is a database on Official Development Assistance (ODA), Official Aid (OA) and other lending to developing countries and countries in transition.

The CRS was established in 1967, jointly by the OECD and the World Bank, with the aim of “supplying the participants with a regular flow of data on indebtedness and capital flows”². Calculating capital flows and debt stock remain key functions of the system, but others have evolved in the course of years. In particular, the CRS aid activity database has become the internationally recognised source of data on the geographical and sectoral breakdown of aid and is widely used by governments, organisations and researchers active in the field of development. For DAC members, the CRS serves as a tool for monitoring specific policy issues, supplementing the information collected at the aggregate level in the annual DAC Statistics.

The CRS aid activity database comprises commitment and disbursement data on Official Development Assistance (ODA) and Official Aid (OA) activities in developing countries and countries in transition submitted by members of the DAC and multilateral institutions (between 6 000 - 32 000 transactions a year). Data in this publication refer to commitments, if not otherwise stated.

Amounts shown in this report have been converted to US$ using the annual average exchange rates. In order to concentrate on the most relevant information, commitments of less than five thousand US$ are not shown. Amounts have been aggregated by recipient and by donor for projects with same purpose codes and descriptions. The exhaustive list of transactions may however be consulted in the CRS database (online and on CD-ROM).

2. The World Bank co-sponsored the creation of this system, and has full access to its data; however, all data collection and treatment is carried out by the DAC Secretariat.

Le Système de notification des pays créanciers en bref

Le Système de notification des pays créanciers (SNPC) est une base de données sur l'Aide publique au développement (APD), l'Aide publique (AP) et les autres prêts aux pays en développement et pays en transition.

Le SNPC a été établi en 1967 conjointement par l'OCDE et la Banque mondiale afin de fournir « régulièrement aux participants des renseignements sur l'endettement et les apports de moyens financiers »². Les statistiques des apports de ressources et le stock de la dette restent d'actualité, mais les fonctions du système ont évolué au cours des années. En particulier la base de données sur les activités d'aide est devenue la référence internationale sur la répartition géographique et sectorielle de l'aide et est largement utilisée par les gouvernements, organisations et chercheurs actifs dans le domaine de l'aide. Pour les membres du CAD, le SNPC est un outil de suivi des questions politiques spécifiques, qui complète les informations agrégées notifiées dans les statistiques annuelles du CAD.

La base de données sur les activités d'aide du SNPC comprend des données sur les engagements et les versements d'Aide publique au développement (APD) et d'Aide publique (AP) dans les pays en développement et les pays en transition par les Membres du CAD et par des institutions multilatérales (de 6 000 à plus de 32 000 transactions par an). Les données de cette publication portent sur les engagements, sauf indication particulière.

Les montants indiqués dans ce rapport ont été convertis en $EU en utilisant les taux de change moyens annuels. Afin de mettre en évidence l'information la plus pertinente, les transactions d'un montant inférieur à cinq mille $EU ne sont pas présentées. Les montants sont cumulés par receveur et par donneur pour les projets qui ont le même code-objet et la même description. La liste complète des transactions peut cependant être consultée dans la base de données SNPC (en ligne et sur CD-ROM).

2. La Banque mondiale a parrainé la création de ce système et dispose d'un accès complet à l'ensemble du système ; mais la collecte et le traitement des données sont entièrement gérés par le Secrétariat du CAD.
